

The Indigenous Youth, Art, and Water Initiative

Water Movement

Organization description:

Canadian, federally incorporated non-profit organization, led by an all-Indigenous Board of Directors

Location:

Calgary, Alberta

Young Indigenous Ambassador (YIA):

Mia Cook

Project Proposal:

Water Movement will co-create with Indigenous Youth a ceramic mural for the grand celebration of National Indigenous Water Operator Day on Parliament Hill in Ottawa March 2024 to honor Indigenous Water Operators importance.

Art type:

Mural

Community Water Issues:

Water Access and inequity. There is disparity in water access and the presence of water related challenges in different communities, particularly Indigenous communities. There is inequitable access to clean drinking water for all individuals, regardless of their geographical location or socioeconomic status. There are non-sustainable solutions and negative environmental impacts as well as impacts on culture. There is a lack of recognition of Indigenous Water Operators
